OVERVIEW OF ST. PAUL'S UNIVERSITY

Welcome to our 35th Graduation Ceremony

Introduction

As we celebrate this important milestone, it is fitting to reflect on the rich history and enduring legacy of an institution whose story is deeply rooted in the development of Christian education, leadership, and ministry in Kenya, East Africa, and the wider world. The present-day St. Paul's University traces its origins to the early missionary work of the Church Missionary Society (CMS), now known as the Church Mission Society, in East Africa. In 1875, the CMS established a settlement for freed slaves at Frere Town, near Mombasa. It was here, in 1888, that the Reverend E. A. Fitch established a Divinity class to provide practical skills and Christian leadership training to freed slaves. The class initially trained six teacher-evangelists, who were subsequently ordained as deacons. This marked the beginning of a significant tradition of training Africans for ordained Christian ministry in Kenya.

As missionary work expanded into the twentieth century, the CMS strengthened its efforts to equip Christian converts for full-time ordained ministry. On 28 July 1903, the Reverend H. K. Binns laid the foundation stone of St. Paul's Divinity School at Frere Town, Mombasa. The historic foundation stone was later relocated and now stands prominently at the Chapel at the University's main campus in Limuru, serving as a lasting reminder of the institution's origins and its relocation to Limuru in January 1930. St. Paul's Divinity School continued as an Anglican institution until 1949, when the Presbyterian Church of East Africa (PCEA) and the Methodist Church in Kenya (MCK) joined the institution and began sending their ministerial candidates for training. This marked the beginning of a broader ecumenical vision. In 1954, the three churches established a College Council to oversee the affairs of the institution, and on 1 January 1955, St. Paul's Divinity School became St. Paul's United Theological College.

The institution continued to grow in both its ecumenical character and its commitment to Christian education. In 1973, the Reformed Church of East Africa (RCEA) formally joined the partnership, becoming the fourth participating church. In 1994, the National Council of Churches of Kenya (NCCK) became the fifth partner, further strengthening the institution's ecumenical identity and national significance. In 2003, St. Paul's United Theological College marked its centenary—one hundred years of faithful service in theological education, Christian leadership, and ministry. Four years later, on 14 September 2007, the institution was granted a Charter to operate as a fully-fledged Christian ecumenical university under the name St. Paul's University. Today, St. Paul's University stands as a testament to more than a century of commitment to academic excellence, Christian values, holistic education, leadership development, and service to society. From its humble beginnings as a Divinity class at Frere Town to its present status as a chartered university, St. Paul's has continued to evolve while remaining anchored in its foundational mission and values.

Spiritual formation remains a defining pillar of the St. Paul's University experience and is deeply rooted in the University's Christian ecumenical heritage. Through the Chaplaincy, students and staff are provided with opportunities for worship, prayer, reflection, fellowship, mentorship, guidance, and engagement with diverse Christian traditions and faith communities. Regular services and other spiritual formation activities seek to nurture character, integrity, humility, compassion, responsible leadership, and a commitment to service. The University also seeks to foster an environment in which faith is meaningfully integrated with learning, professional development, and everyday life. In this way, SPU continues to pursue its mission of developing transformative servant leaders who combine knowledge and professional competence with values and a commitment to service to God and humanity.

Since attaining university status and accreditation, St. Paul's University has continued to expand and strengthen its academic portfolio by developing programmes that are responsive to emerging societal needs and aligned with the demands of the labour market. This year, two (2) postgraduate programmes were approved by Commission of University Education; Master of Science in Informatics and Doctor of Philosophy in Communication and thirty one (31) programmes under TVET. A further milestone was achieved in the area of lifelong learning and recognition of prior learning. In August 2026, St. Paul's University officially launched Level 3 and Level 4 Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) programmes in Christian Ministry and Information and Communications Technology. The University was granted the mandate to assess, train and award certificates under the national RPL framework and is accredited by the Technical and Vocational Education and Training Authority (TVETA) as an RPL Assessment Centre. The initiative provides experienced practitioners with an opportunity to have competencies gained through prior experience, informal training and non-formal learning assessed and formally certified, thereby strengthening pathways for lifelong learning, professional recognition and progression into further education.

The University has also continued to consolidate its position as a centre of excellence in the generation and dissemination of new knowledge, skills, and professional experience through teaching, learning, research, innovation, and community engagement. Currently, St. Paul's University offers thirty-seven (37) academic programmes, comprising twenty-one (21) Bachelor's programmes, one (1) Postgraduate Diploma programme, eleven (11) Masters programmes, and four (4) Doctor of Philosophy programmes. A wide range of diploma and certificate programmes complements these across various disciplines, providing diverse opportunities for lifelong learning, professional development, and academic advancement.

Through this continued expansion, the University remains committed to providing relevant, quality, and transformative education that equips graduates with the knowledge, skills, values, and competencies required to make meaningful contributions to their professions, communities, and the wider society.

The University has continued to strengthen its commitment to quality, institutional excellence, and responsiveness to emerging reforms in higher education. During the year, the University underwent the second Commission for University Education (CUE) Regular Institutional Audit, alongside the ISO Recertification Audit, further demonstrating its commitment to continuous quality improvement, accountability, and compliance with national and international standards. In preparation for the evolving Competency-Based Education and Training (CBET) landscape, the University has also initiated measures to enhance institutional readiness, including the retooling and capacity building of academic staff, development and adoption of CBET-related approaches and modules, and the establishment of a CBET Implementation Committee to guide the University's transition, coordination, implementation, and monitoring of CBET. Through some staff members, University has further contributed to national higher education reforms through participation in initiatives relating to the development of the National University CBET Framework, University Staff Retooling Modules, and capacity-building programmes. These initiatives reflect SPU's commitment to ensuring that its academic programmes, teaching approaches, assessment practices, and graduate competencies remain responsive to the changing needs of the education sector, the labour market, industry, and society locally and globally.

University education serves not only as a pathway to rewarding careers but also as a fertile ground for personal and intellectual transformation. In this regard, St. Paul's University continues to strengthen its research and innovation agenda through the Research Directorate, which builds research capacity among scholars and supports initiatives that contribute to sustainable societal development. The Directorate facilitates research conferences, workshops and symposia, supports scholarly publication, provides research training, and facilitates the securing of research grants. Its work is guided by cross-cutting thematic areas including public and community health and well-being; environment, climate change and resilience for sustainable development; ethical systems and technology for sustainable futures; and leadership integrity for social justice. The University also continues to promote open science and research collaboration through national, regional and international partnerships.

The University has strategic partnerships and collaborations with both local and international organizations as it strives to elevate its global standing. Notable among these are: the Institute of Certified Secretaries (ICS); Université Chrétienne Bilingue Du Congo (DRC); Garden of Siloam; University College Absalom (Denmark); International Telematic University (Italy); and Maji na Ufanisi, among others.

During the year, four grant awards were successfully secured by members of the St. Paul's University community, further strengthening the University's research, innovation, and international engagement. Among these is the three-year ELEVATE AI project, an Erasmus+ Capacity Building in Higher Education (CBHE) initiative involving an 11-institution consortium from Kenya, Rwanda, Germany, and Spain, with a total project budget of €800,000. The project focuses on strengthening AI education, infrastructure and governance in East African higher education institutions, including curriculum integration, faculty capacity building, university–industry partnerships and responsible AI adoption. The University also secured the Templeton Religion Trust-funded project, "Spiritual Capital and Youth Innovation in an Age of Economic Anxiety," with a budget of US$100,000 for August 2026 to August 2028. The project supports postgraduate research, sub-granted mini-projects, policy and clergy workshops, youth innovation hackathons and scholarly publications. In addition, SPU is a partner in the European Union-funded Virtual Intercultural Exchange for a Better Environment 2 (VIBE 2), valued at €499,972, which connects higher education students across Europe and Sub-Saharan Africa around climate change solutions, intercultural dialogue, digital skills and environmental action. The university was also awarded the FCDO Foreign, Commonwealth, and Development Office (FCDO) Grant 2026 worth 100,000 USD Artificial Intelligence for Climate-Smart Agriculture in Kenya. The Project is aimed at mapping the AI and climate smart agriculture in 6 different geographic zones/counties (Nyeri, Kiambu, Busia, Makueni, Kilifi, Laikipia) policy brief, publications, policy workshop, collaborative projects, industry/academia/society link.

The University has also had the privilege of hosting two ambassadors for public lectures at our main campus. In September 2026, we welcomed H.E. Mrs. Gentiana Serbu, Ambassador of the Republic of Romania to Kenya, and H.E. Kang Hyung-Shik, Ambassador of the Republic of Korea to Kenya. They delivered public lectures on the themes: "Organized Crime and Democracy" and "Kenya-Korea Diplomatic Relations", respectively.

The year 2026 also marked a significant milestone in the leadership history of St. Paul's University with the installation of Professor Esther Moraa Mombo as the University's fourth Vice-Chancellor on 17 September 2026 and she became the first woman to serve as Vice-Chancellor of St. Paul's University. Professor Mombo brings extensive experience in academic leadership, theology, research, international partnerships and university administration, having previously served the institution in senior leadership roles, including Academic Dean, the first Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic Affairs) after the university was awarded the Charter, and Director of International Partnerships and Alumni Relations. Her installation further reflects the University's commitment to academic excellence, research, innovation, inclusive leadership and service.

Under the leadership of the Fourth Vice Chancellor, Prof. Esther Mombo, St. Paul's University continues to advance its vision as a transformative Christian university of excellence for global service. Her leadership is anchored in strengthening academic excellence, innovative teaching and learning, research, spiritual formation, responsible stewardship and collaborative engagement across the University community. Guided by the theme "Navigating Competencies in Higher Education," the University is committed to equipping learners with relevant competencies, nurturing transformative servant leaders, and responding effectively to emerging opportunities and challenges in higher education. This leadership approach reinforces the University's commitment to excellence, inclusivity, integrity and service, while positioning St. Paul's University for sustainable growth and greater impact locally, regionally and globally.

Overall, our staff and students have participated in national and international forums, enhancing our institution's competitive edge and global outlook. This year, SPU students engaged in various exchange programmes, including semester-long exchanges and internships at the University of Life Sciences in Romania, Marie Cederschiöld University College in Sweden, and CPIFP Alan Turing Malaga in Spain. Additional short-term training took place in Romania, while a peace seminar was held at Université Chrétienne Bilingue Du Congo (DRC) involving 25 students and 2 staff members. Other exchanges included teaching practice in Denmark, thesis-related studies in Sweden, and an internship in the Netherlands. The University also hosted inbound students from the USA, Germany, and Sweden. Both students and staff have travelled to Spain, Germany, Romania, the Netherlands, and Denmark, with a trip to China planned later this year. Several staff members also participated in the Erasmus+ staff mobility programme to Spain, Romania, and Germany, aimed at promoting research, innovation, best practices, and cultural integration. Two Library staff had a two month's learning visit in Pittsburgh University Library in Pennsylvania, USA. The experiential visit focused on digitization in preparation for a joint institutional history project capturing the origins of St. Paul's University which relates to the end of slave trade on the East African coast.

Community service remains an integral part of St. Paul's University's commitment to developing graduates who are equipped not only for professional success but also for meaningful service to humanity. Guided by the University's Christian identity and commitment to servant leadership, SPU provides opportunities for students and members of the University community to engage with and contribute to the wider society. Through community engagement, service-oriented initiatives, partnerships, outreach activities, and practical learning experiences, students are encouraged to apply their knowledge and skills to address social needs and contribute to the well-being of communities. This approach reinforces the University's commitment to developing responsible, compassionate, and socially responsive graduates for the world. As St. Paul's University celebrates its 35th Graduation Ceremony, these developments demonstrate an institution that continues to build on its historic foundation while responding to contemporary demands in higher education. Through strengthened research and innovation, grant-supported initiatives, lifelong learning and RPL certification, international engagement, digital transformation, and progressive academic leadership, SPU remains committed to equipping graduates with knowledge, skills, values and competencies for meaningful service to the church, society, Kenya, Africa and the wider world.

BIBLE READING

Micah 6: 1 - 8

The Lord's Case against Israel

1 "Listen to what the Lord says:

"Stand up, plead my case before the mountains; let the hills hear what you have to say.

2 "Hear you mountains. The Lord's accusation; Listen, you everlasting foundations of the earth. For the lord has a case against his people; He is lodging a charge against Israel.

3 "My people, what have I done to you? How have I burdened you? Answer me.

4 I brought you up out of Egypt and redeemed you from the land of slavery. I sent Moses to lead you, also Aaron and Miriam.

5 My people, remember what Balak king of Moab answered. Remember your journey from Shittim to Gilgal, that you may know the righteous acts of the Lord."

6 With what shall I come before the Lord and bow down before the exalted God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with the thousands of rams, with ten thousand rivers of olive oil? Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

8 He has shown you, O mortal, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God.
